

Ranvir Singh is the award-winning presenter of ITV's Good Morning Britain and Lorraine. She also fronted her own ITV daytime quiz show, Riddiculous which recently returned for a third series, coming soon to ITVX. In 2020 she showed off her dancing skills by reaching the semi-finals of BBC's Strictly Come Dancing.

Good Morning Britain has taken her across the globe and to the frontline of crisis. In 2019 the GMB team won the prestigious Golden Nymph Award in the 'Live Breaking News' category at the Monte Carlo Television Awards for their coverage of the Westminster terror attack, for which Ranvir was praised for her ability to 'strike the perfect tone of urgency, without being alarmist and guiding viewers with a balance of fact and speculation.'

Ranvir has fronted several ITV primetime shows including the most watched factual title on ITV in 2022, Ghislaine, Prince Andrew & the Paedophile and the successful series, Eat, Shop, Save, where Ranvir and her team of experts help families to eat and save their way to household happiness. She's also fronted shows such as All Around Britain with Alex Beresford, and presented ITV's Real Stories, telling unique stories of people who have experienced life-changing events.

Ranvir is currently Honorary Chancellor for University of Central Lancashire and an ambassador for the charity Refuge. She spends her weekends walking and fishing along the canal with her dog Shmizzles and is a supporter of the Canal & River Trust.
