

Dan Schreiber is a writer, stand-up comedian, TV presenter, producer and podcaster. He is the host of QI derived comedy podcast 'No Such Thing As A Fish', which is a regular fixture in the top ten iTunes podcast charts, and the author of 'The Theory of Everything Else', a collection of mind-boggling and goosebump- raising theories, published by in October 2022. As an extension of the world of weird and wonderful, Dan's podcast 'We Can Be Weirdo's' launched in May 2023 to rave reviews. Dan's first children's book, 'Impossible Things' was published in July 2024.

NSTAAF was deservedly picked up by BBC2 for a television adaptation, which Dan co-created, entitled 'No Such Thing as the News', which explores the lighter side of current affairs and spins the facts into a fascinating indulgence of hilarious knowledge. He also co-wrote the book versions of the podcast The Book of The Year in 2017, 2018 and 2019 with his fellow QI Elves.

Dan co-created and produced BBC Radio 4's highly successful and long running series 'The Museum of Curiosity'. His extensive repertoire of behind-the-scenes credits include producing Frank Skinner's comedy panel show 'The Rest Is History' and heading up Warner Music Entertainment's comedy arm.