

Grace McIntosh is a young TV Presenter from Wakefield in Yorkshire, who fills the screen with her bubbly personality and northern smile!

As one of the presenters on Channel 4's 'The Dog Academy', Grace is no stranger to television. Her first acting job was when she was aged 11, playing Eleesha in CBBC's '4 O'Clock Club'.

Moving on from acting she has found a passion for presenting, working with brands such as 'Go Compare' and 'LV Insurance' and she was one of six presenters chosen for a project called 'Black History School', an online curriculum with the aim to educate children and adults about Black History, culture, mental wellbeing and business skills.

In 2023 Grace graduated with a BA in Media and Performance from the University of Salford.
